CIRANDA's organic chocolate is available in 56% semisweet or 70% bittersweet chips and kibbles. It has a rich flavor and subtle fruit and floral notes that are indicative of the beans in the growing region near the Andean Mountains in Peru. Our chocolate chips are uniformly-sized and ready to include in cookies, granola, or trail mix; while the larger irregularly-shaped chocolate kibbles are perfect for melting down to enrobe confectionery truffles or snack bars.

Fair Trade For All

CIRANDA's organic chocolate is available with Fairtrade America (FLO) certification that may be sold to Fair Trade USA to benefit small-scale farmers. Certification ensures higher crop premiums, safe working conditions and fair wages to name a few. Premiums are invested into community projects like shared tool banks, advanced agro-consultancy, and school or playground improvements for children.

Key Benefits

- Organic, non-GMO, kosher, dairy free, gluten-free
- Produced in a facility that does not process the top nine allergens
- Single origin chocolate
- Fair trade certification available

Trends In Chocolate Confectionery*

As for flavor trends in the U.S. chocolate confectionery market, Innova Market Insights noted the following:

- Berries, summer fruits and vanilla flavors saw the fastest growth in the past five years.
- Nut and caramel dominate chocolate candy flavors.
- Almond is the prominent nut flavor.
- Citrus and coffee experienced growth as health and indulgence motivation continue influencing the category.
